

Transport Education Training Authority

Driven by Vision

You are cordially invited to participate in a

National Research Study

The Renaissance Network (TRN) has been contracted by the Transport Education and Training Authority (TETA) to conduct a national research study that EXPLORES SKILLS DEVELOPMENT AND MARKET OPPORTUNITIES FOR SMMEs WITHIN THE TRANSPORT SECTOR. The TETA wishes to put in place more supportive measures to further assist and capacitate SMMEs to successfully reach their full business potential and become sustainable in the long-term.

TRN is undertaking this study involving key stakeholders that are influential in the SMME space across all sub-sectors in the transport landscape. Interested stakeholders from SMMEs, large companies, Employer Associations and Training Providers are invited to participate through two avenues: a short online survey to complete, via an email link and participation in an online stakeholder engagement meeting. The views, experiences and recommendations shared by stakeholders is important feedback to the TETA to improve its service offerings to SMMEs, in particular, and the sector as a whole. ALL levy-paying and non-levy-paying companies of the TETA are invited to participate in this study.

ONLINE SURVEY INVITATION

If you would like to complete the online survey, kindly contact Ms Kudsiya Cassim urgently on research@renaissancenetwork.co.za and copy TRN.rennet@gmail.com

Upon receipt of your email request, you will be sent a survey link that will allow you to complete the online questionnaire. The survey will not take you longer than 20 minutes to complete.

This is YOUR opportunity to let your voices as SMMEs and associated stakeholders to be heard by the TETA so that they can significantly improve their support to promoting the longevity of especially small businesses in this space.

Kindly email now and join other stakeholders in collectively advancing the growth and sustainability of SMMEs in the transport landscape in South Africa.
